Have you ever been perfectly amazed at the manner in which two perfectly sane, ordinarily intelligent persons could differ on a simple, even trivial subject? Each one is honest in his own point of view but the other man's ideas are so opposed to his own that they never occur to him until they are carefully explained. The writer of this article, pleads guilty to holding such a discussion not long since and is even yet amazed that the other person couldn't see it from her stand point, while the "party of the second part" is equally amazed that any one could look upon the subject from any perspective but his own.

The fact that two persons who have many similar traits of character, are capable of looking upon an insignificant matter from such diametrically opposed standpoints, makes one feel that he should be extremely careful in judging the words or conduct of others.

It is probably true that the other chap is doing what he believes to be best. His view may be narrow, it may be biased by unfortunate training, or bad environment; he may be immoral or simply unkind; his words or actions may be governed by selfishness or pride but whatever they are, they are bound to give him a point of view not quite like that of any of his neighbors and to understand the motive behind his actions, one must necessarily look from his focus.

The civilized nations of the globe, believe, theoretically at least, that there was never but one being who was perfect in thought, word and action, whose point of view was always right. He saw man's short comings and was patient with them; he saw man's carnality and forgave his evil deeds; he taught forgiveness, loving kindness and said "judge not".

In the law a man is innocent until he is proven guilty but in reality, unfortunately, he is held to be guilty until he is proven to be innocent and even then we have our doubts. The world is long on theory and short on practice but it is consoling to note that it grows more charitable as the years pass on.

The writer recalls a day when she climbed a mountain from whose summit she was enabled to look back across a beautiful valley, to a range on the opposite side. Situated midway in the valley was a tiny village, giving a touch of human interest to the scene. It was so quiet there on the mountain, the blue haze covered the foothills miles away, softening their rugged outline and giving them all the mystery and enchantment of distance. The air was pure upon that mountain top serene and high; there was not even the faintest echo of the squabbles, bickering and petty gossip of the villagers. It all seemed so futile up there on the mountain, one wondered if it were possible to transport the denizens of the hamlet to that spot, if they would not obtain a wider, clearer perspective of life and cease their senseless quarreling.

Perhaps in some other sphere we shall all dwell on the mountain top and looking back from that higher viewpoint wonder at the narrow confines of the life that held us here.

Madame Schumann-Heink will sing in Phoenix on January 31. Now that the matter has been definitely settled, subscriptions are coming in rapidly as those who subscribe first will have first choice of seats. Madame Schumann-Heink, as she is officially known, though to plain everyday Americans who haven't a famous name to live up to and who think one consumes sufficient, she would properly be called Mrs. Rapp, is the greatest contralto singer in the world. A spice of gossip is added to her appearance from the fact that the telegraphic dispatches of a week ago, heralded the fact that Madame had just applied for a divorce from Mr. Rapp, her youthful husband, whom she avers, was not appreciative of her children by a former marriage. What an excellent chance for the greatest contralto singer in the world, to be so easily to remark that he did not care a rap for his step sons and they did not care a rap for Rapp, and so they constantly rapped each other. It must be as great a handicap for a man to have a famous wife, unless he happens to be a somebody himself, as it is for a woman to have a husband much younger than herself, and both of these contingencies are present in the Schumann-Heink-Rapp case. Mrs. Catherine Hoffman will act as accompanist at the concert. The sale of seats for subscribers will be held on January 24 at Boehm's. The general public can secure seats at any time thereafter. Be a subscriber of the advantage is obvious.

One of the most enjoyable as well as one of the largest parties of the season was given last Wednesday at the Woman's club house by Mrs. Richard E. Sloan and Miss Eleanor

Sloan. Bridge formed the afternoon's entertainment and four handsome prizes were awarded. The fortunate winners were Mrs. James McClintock, Mrs. William W. McNeff, Mrs. Donald McQueen and Mrs. H. D. Evans. The auditorium at the club is an ideal place to entertain at cards and in this case, was comfortably filled with tables. The stage at the end of the room was banked with potted plants and with the dark wood work and neutral colored walls of the room, formed a perfect background for the handsome gowns of the guests. A delicious luncheon was served and at a late hour in the afternoon the visitors departed, thanking Mrs. Sloan and Miss Eleanor for a delightful time. Those who were invited to enjoy the hospitality of these ladies were:

Mesdames Edward Kent, George U. Young, Carl Hayden, George Kibbey, F. A. Tittle, J. C. Adams, George Archer, Charles Akers, E. J. Bennett, A. Ballard, D. H. Bartles, J. B. Baker, C. C. Baker, C. S. The members of the Woman's club are more than busy these days and much of their most arduous work is being done preparing for a large historical, pottery pageant which will occur on dates of Friday afternoon, February 16, and Saturday evening, February 17, for the benefit of the clubhouse fund. Different periods showing some form of pottery that marked that particular age, will be shown by the ladies of the club dressed to represent the period and the pottery. They will show the Egyptian, Grecian, Chinese and Japanese, Italian, Dresden, Delft, French, British, Colonial, Central American and modern pottery. Without doubt this pageant will be one of the most attractive as well as one of the most elaborate affairs ever attempted in Phoenix. Wherever it has been given it has proven to be very successful and very remunerative, and the Woman's club is counting on making its representation one of the best and is adding a number of original features which will be more fully discussed next week.

On Thursday, January the 18th, Mrs. T. W. Pemberton and Mrs. Clay Parker, entertained at bridge for Mrs. Charles S. Birdsell of Salem, Oregon. The auditorium at the Woman's clubhouse was the scene for 20 tables, and the rostrum at the end of the room was banked with ferns, palms and potted plants, which with the dark green velours of the drop curtain, made a harmonious setting for the prettily dressed women. Mrs. Pemberton wore a rich frock of black with jet trimmings and a white lace yoke. Mrs. Parker was gowned in old rose. Mrs. Birdsell was dressed in lemon colored silk. Mrs. Helen Bury was gowned in black. Mrs. E. T. Collins wore a deep salmon silk, and the Misses Helen Munger, Faye de Munn, who also assisted in serving, were dressed in a delicate shade of pink. The prizes were won by Mrs. H. M. Kennedy, Mrs. W. W. McNeff, Mrs. H. M. Thornton and Mrs. W. K. James, and were very handsome and consisted of a set of bar pins of pearls and green enamel, a beautiful old glass dish, a dainty hand painted picture and a pair of silk hose. An elaborate luncheon was served and the ladies departed after having spent a most enjoyable afternoon. The guests who were invited to enjoy the hospitality of Mesdames Pemberton and Parker, were: Mesdames A. C. Baker, E. J. Bennett, Walter Bennett, H. C. Bennett, Blount, D. H. Bartles, Helen Bury, Arthur Ballard, L. H. Chalmers, Geo. D. Christy, L. B. Christy, O. H. Christy, J. W. Crenshaw, E. T. Collins, D. L. Connor, Beverly Cox, Frank Cox, J. About twenty members and invited guests of the Priscilla club met at the pleasant and commodious home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Young, at 915 East Van Buren street, on Wednesday afternoon. This club as its name indicates, is devoted to the handicrafts of the needle, the distaff and spindle having some of date shortly after the time the original Priscilla of Puritan fame, became Mrs. John Alden. The ladies who were Mrs. Young's guests, evidently thought that the usual fancy work was the order of the hour but their hostess had other plans. She handed each one a small square of linen and a needle and for every needle and threader to outline a pig upon it. When those eighteen pigs were congregated and were properly pinned (not panned) upon the wall, there was a menagerie exhibit displayed that would have done credit to the freaks in the ten cent shows on the midway. Most of the artists labeled their productions that none should mistake them for hippopotami, and the baby grand-son of the household insisted on calling the whole collection dogs. The club prize for the best pig was won by Mrs. P. T. Downing, and consisted of a pretty hosiery darning of checkered brown and ivory colored woods, and was presented with the idea that it could be made as useful as it is ornamental. Mrs. S. J. Rodgers won the guest prize, a hand painted exhibit of a most delicious luncheon of lettuce and pimiento sandwiches, chicken patties, sweet pickles, fruit salad with whipped cream, angel food and coffee, was then served by Mrs. Young and her daughters. The club members who were present at Mrs. Young's home were: Mesdames P. T. Downing, L. B. Doran, S. A. Bowman, Henry Yaeger, L. B. Wilcox, Alice Stewart, M. Lawson, J. H. Day, S. J. Rodgers, M. E. Butler, Harold Bowman, Chas. Stanton, Fred Young, Levi Young, and Miss Edna Day. The invited guests of the club were: Mesdames H. D. Patton, O. E. Trim, A. P. Ansbacher, Harold Bowman and O. E. Young.

The numerous friends of Newton Levi in this city who have known the young man ever since he was a boy, will be pleased to learn that he is apparently making good in his new location as business secretary of the Golden Rule department store of St. Paul. Mr. Levi writes that he likes the place, the people and the work. This gentleman is the son of Mrs. Salina K. Levi of this city and is very popular among the young folks of the gay set. Everyone who has the pleasure of his acquaintance, will wish him success in his new business enterprise.

Luncheon will be served at the Woman's clubhouse during the three days' session of the Arizona Federation of Women's clubs, the 24, 25 and 26.

Mrs. J. C. Reed of 919 West Washington street, entertained on Thursday for her daughter, Mildred, the occasion being Miss Mildred's eleventh birthday. The little lady was the recipient of numerous presents from the playmates who spent the afternoon at the Reed home. A delicious luncheon was served to the children by Mrs. Reed and all departed after having a delightful time and wishing Miss Mildred many happy birthdays. Those who attended were:

Helen Taylor, Eleanor Hulett, Hazel Simpkins, Dorris Simpkins, Lucile McKee, Lyla Diebold, Raymond Diebold, Ralph Coggins, Milton Coggins, B. Dismuke, W. A. Farish, B. A. Fickas, J. W. Foss, W. C. Foster, B. A. Fowler, Robt. Friedel, D. M. Francis, Sims Ely, Emil Ganz, Aaron Goldberg, Dave Goldberg, Les Gold- man, W. S. Goldworthy, R. S. Goodrich, J. S. Griffen, Frank W. The new guests at the Ingleside club house who arrived this last week are: Mrs. Clayton C. Ingraham of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Chamberlain of Detroit; Mrs. George P. Watson and children, and Miss Hall of Fairview, West Virginia. Mrs. R. C. Dryer and daughter of Phoenix, and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Marsh and daughter Grace of Prairie View, Ills.

In order that all the public who wish to may attend, the music department of the Woman's club will repeat the "Japanese Girl" at a matinee performance given at the club on Saturday afternoon, January 27. This opera was given several years ago under the musical direction of the club, Mrs. J. Elliot Walker, and made a decided hit. The members have been practicing very strenuously of late and will put on the first performance this season on Thursday, the 25th, in compliment to the visitors and delegates who will be here at that time attending the federation of women's clubs. Two tickets will be allowed each club member for the opera Thursday evening so that she may be accompanied by one guest, but in case there are any members who will be unable to attend, their tickets will be good for the Saturday performance. This will make it possible for the Temperance ladies to hear the opera, when it might inconvenience them greatly to try to come Thursday evening. Admission to the matinee for other than club members will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Following their usual weekly lesson, the Friday club this week indulged in a very enjoyable tea, in honor of Mrs. Carl Hayden, who leaves in a few days with Mr. Hayden for Washington, D. C. The members present were Mrs. Carl Hayden, Mrs. J. H. Kibbey, Mrs. Walter Bennett, Mrs. Sims Ely, Mrs. Shirley Christy, Mrs. Edward Kent, Mrs. J. S. Jenkins, Mrs. N. A. Morford, Mrs. L. H. Chalmers, Mrs. W. K. James, Mrs. J. H. McClintock, Mrs. T. E. Farish, Mrs. John Dennett, Mrs. H. J. Jessop, and Mrs. E. W. Lewis.

Mrs. Joseph Friedberg of Albuquerque, New Mexico, who has been the guest of Mrs. Salina K. Levi of North Third avenue during her stay in the city, where she was called because of her father's illness, has departed for her home. Her father, Dr. E. M. Chapman, the new pastor of Congregational Emanuel, has been very ill of pneumonia for several weeks is now improving, and will no doubt be about again in a short time. Mrs. Friedberg was so favorably impressed with Phoenix, that she says she intends to try persuading her husband to sell out his business in Albuquerque, and come to this city to reside.

The long Arizona winter is over and spring has come; the Ingleside club members and guests had a picnic on Thursday to celebrate that event. It was the hay-wagon and horse back variety. The rendezvous was the Hole-in-the-Rock, and everybody had a delightful time.

Miss Dorothy Packard, daughter of R. A. Packard of Douglas, has arrived in the city to take up her musical studies at the Arizona School of Music. Miss Packard is at home at the Griffen residence on North Second street.

Sunday Mrs. Warren McArthur of Ingleside was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Chalmers, Miss Raima Chalmers and Master Louis.

Among the Ingleside callers this past week have been Mr. and Mrs. Emory Kays, Miss Kays, Miss Mary Bickel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fitch, Mr. R. C. Dryer, Mrs. J. C. Adams, Miss Adams and Miss Bagley.

Mrs. Donald McQueen of Mesa has issued invitations for a luncheon and bridge, for Friday, January 26th.

One of the pleasant affairs at the Adams hostelry during the past week, was the dinner given Thursday evening by Miss Edith Cole to a number of friends from the Arizona School of Music.

On Wednesday, Mr. Dunbar, his two sons, and Mr. Gedrich of Chicago, visited the Ingleside club house as the guests of Mr. Murphy.

The Arizona and New Mexico Underyraters association gave an elaborate banquet at the Adams, Thursday evening.

Mr. Keating, a guest of the Hotel Adams, gave a dinner party Thursday night to Messrs. Corway, Newberry, McCord and Benno Nell.

Mrs. Joseph H. Kibbey has gone to California for a visit with her son Walter, who was recently married in Los Angeles. Mrs. Kibbey was accompanied by her little grand daughter, Susan Margaret Jenkins.

Mrs. Harold Baxter whose home is at present in Reno, Nevada, but who resided during the greater portion of her girlhood in this city, is here for a visit of several weeks with her father, J. L. B. Alexander.

Mrs. A. W. Ballard, wife of the president of the Pacific Electric Gas company, has been confined to her room at the Hotel Adams, a portion of the past week, with a severe cold.

Captain Baertschi and wife of Toledo, Ohio, are in the city for a visit with the former's sister, Mrs. C. C. Hirsig, 709 North First street.

On Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Giles took dinner at the Ingleside club house and called on friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hine of Ingleside entertained Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kochitzky at dinner the first of the week.

The meeting of the L. A. S. of the south side, which was held at the home of Mrs. Annie Rice on Wednesday last, sure lacked nothing in the way of vim and go. Twenty-five ladies were present, Mrs. Tuckie of Phoenix and Mrs. Wilson from Michigan, being visitors. Mrs. Johnson, a newcomer in our vicinity was accepted as a new member. Mrs. E. M. Wheeler, chairman of the plans committee, reported a considerable amount of sewing for the hospital which the ladies had accomplished at the homes since the last meeting. Not a little work was done at this meeting, which will be reported at a later date. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Another picnic is on foot—the ladies voted to have one February 22nd in the past just west of Center street and to visit the near by mine. Remember everyone is invited. The next meeting of the society will be held at Mrs. Griffith's on Highland avenue, just off Center street, February 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Jefferson who were recently married were surprised by a large number of friends who were conveyed to their ranch home by means of a hay rack. The ladies supplied delicious sandwiches, salads, pickles, cakes, etc., and Mrs. Mosshammer made most delicious coffee. Those present were: Mesdames Jefferson, Patton, Hanley, Hartman, Davis, Russell, Bellas, Balingier, Stobins, Tompkins, Mosshammer, Hartwell, Misses Smith and Bellas; and Messrs. Jefferson, Stebbins, Miller, Patton, Burke, Russell, French, Armstrong, Tompkins, Strong, Mosshammer, Williams, Wilson and German.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wilson of Warlike, Mich., who have been the guests for the past ten days of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Wilson at their ranch on the south side, left Thursday evening for Pasadena, Cal., where they expect to remain for the winter.

A wedding which is of great interest to Phoenix people, is the one that occurred Friday at 5 o'clock at the Catholic monastery, when Miss Kitty Devine became the wife of Mr. Kirby T. Moore, the popular state superintendent of public instruction. The young lady in question is extremely handsome and had numerous admirers who have done their utmost to get her to choose some other name than Moore. The ceremony was according to the Catholic ritual and was performed by Father Dominick. The bride wore a very pretty gown and white hat. Her going away frock was of grey with a handsome hat to match. Those present at the wedding were Mrs. Milton R. Moore of Tucson, mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Weaver, Mrs. Weaver being a sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Golden and the Misses Leverich and Francis. Mr. Moore has been a resident of Tucson the greater part of his life and was one of the two republicans elected to the coming legislature from Pima county.

truly a high if rather futile honor, in these days of rampant democracy. Miss Devine has made her home in Phoenix for a number of years, though she is a real, rosy cheeked lassie from the Isle of emerald green across the sea. Both Mr. and Mrs. Moore have as many friends as acquaintances, all of whom wish them years of happiness and prosperity together.

Dr. and Mrs. John Calvin Young, of 1332 West Adams street, are entertaining Mrs. Young's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taggart of Winona, Illinois. The Taggarts are on a trip around the world and this is their first stop. They intend sailing from San Francisco, February 6, and will go to Honolulu.

Mrs. L. E. Hewins of 1293 East Washington, is expecting a visit from her father, Judge W. F. Nichols, former secretary of the territory under Governor Kibbey. Judge Nichols has been so closely connected with the history of this territory and is so warmly liked by most of its residents, that one does not like to say that he is from Los Angeles, though that is his present home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Doyle of 166 North Eleventh avenue entertained at dinner Thursday evening for the Misses Virginia Storey and Margaret Casey and Messrs. Louis Lewkowitz and J. P. Jeffers. The table decorations were of violets and smilax.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary A. Greig and her daughters, will be interested in knowing of the fascinating trip which they have been taking through Australia, and other of the most important islands of the Pacific. They are now at Hong Kong, China, watching the evolution of a republic from the oldest monarchy in the world. The return of the Greigs is expected sometime in February.
